These services can be continued beyond our appointment by mutual agreement and may be subject to specific fees, terms and conditions.

As independent brokers we are in a position to arrange your insurance with any insurance provider of your choice and have no contractual obligation to make arrangements with any specific insurance provider. When making placements under special facilities that we may have, as explained in more detail below, under the paragraph titled 'Our Underwriting facilities', we will inform you.

There will be instances where in the course of our services we may make incidental reference to matters which do not fall within our direct area of profession. Our services do not include the provision of legal, financial, fiscal, taxation or other non-insurance specialist or professional advice and our reference to such matters is not to be construed as such. You should therefore always seek separate expert advice from your respective preferred consultants in such areas with relation to your risk considerations and insurance arrangements.

3. Quotations

When approaching the insurance market for quotations on your behalf we seek a scope of protection that goes beyond the standard products but negotiate several extensions and clauses in order to tailor-make the insurance for your specific needs and provide a wider cover.

We provide you with details of the quotations secured and the insurance companies quoting and will be able to assist you in assessing the offers. You must always review the terms quoted in detail including specimen wordings and inform us if you require any additional information, clarifications or should you have any objections or concerns. Please ask us if you require a specimen of the policy documentation.

As quotations from insurers may change without notice, we reserve the right to withdraw terms and premium indications before they are taken up.

4. Material Facts

Any audits, reviews, terms and quotations are based on the information provided to us by you including the claims/loss experience. When referring to claims/loss experience this relates to all losses, irrespective of whether they were covered by insurance protection. It is your responsibility to ensure the correctness and completeness of this data and inform us if anything needs to be added, removed, modified or clarified. Whilst we understand that you have copies of the details that you provided to us, we can make this information available to you if you so require.

Please also ensure that the insured's name and the description of the business are adequate and maintained so throughout the policy period.

If you are or become knowledgeable of any material facts concerning the risk being discussed or insured that you feel underwriters should be made aware of, please advise us immediately. It is your duty to disclose all material circumstances which you know or ought to know and give a fair presentation of the risk after reasonable search. Material facts include any information which could in any way influence the underwriter's consideration and assessment of the acceptability and terms to be applied to a risk. Examples of material facts are new business operations, employment of additional categories of employees, entering into a contract with a third party that affects your rights and obligations, circumstances which would increase the possibility of a loss, such as lack of security, hazardous materials stored, hazardous processes carried on your premises or in neighbouring property and the like.

Please also appreciate that whenever you enter into any form of contract or agreement with a third party you may directly or indirectly affect your rights and consequently those of your insurers. In this respect you must inform us of the existence of such arrangements and notify us in advance of the implementation of such agreement and provide us with copies of all relevant parts of the documentation in order that we may seek underwriters' prior approval.

These disclosure obligations are of a continuous nature operating before the policy of insurance commences, at the time of each renewal or extension, when lodging a claim as well as throughout the duration of the policy period. Not conforming to such obligations can have serious consequences on the operation of your protection and may enable insurers to avoid an otherwise indemnifiable claim thereunder. It is recommended that you review the information provided to us and/or insurers in the past in order to verify that all material circumstances have been disclosed and continue to be correct.

If in doubt as to whether a circumstance constitutes a material fact or whether an incident should be disclosed, then it is best practice that you disclose it for underwriters' consideration. Please remember that your insurance arrangements are subject to the principle of Utmost Good Faith.

5. Life Assurance & Long-Term Contracts

When considering the arrangement of Life Assurance and Long-Term Contracts or deciding on a renewal thereof please review in detail the brochures, information sheets and other material issued by Insurers concerning the products being offered. Some of this information will be provided to you by us and is also available from insurers or their websites along with additional details. It is important that you inform us should you need any clarifications or additional information. The provision of this information by us is not to be construed as a recommendation of a particular product.

6. Summaries of Cover, Quotation Reports & Policies

When we provide you with a Quotation Report, Cover Note, Renewal Invitation/Notice/Reminder, an Insurance Product Information Document, a Summary of Cover and similar documents these will be an outline of the scope of insurance protection and will only include main values and limits insured and salient policy terms. Additional terms, warranties, conditions and exclusions are applicable. It is therefore important that you review the full policy wording, or a specimen thereof when not yet issued, to familiarise yourself with the full description and details of the scope of protection and the actual wording applicable in the terms, definitions, exceptions, conditions and any endorsements attached thereto. If you do not hold such document, please inform us immediately in order that we may supply this to you.

You must carefully review all documents we give you, including the policy document and endorsements, and ensure that these reflect the insurance protection that you wish and to contact us immediately should you notice any error of fact, require any corrections, clarifications or modifications made to the document/protection or believe that the contents do not address your needs.

7. Language

The business language used by MIB is the English language. The use of any other language shall only be for the purpose of facilitating the service to you and any translation by us will be of a casual nature and non-binding. In the event of any discrepancy between the English text and any other language (or vice versa), the English text shall prevail. Should you not be fully conversant with the English language we urge you to inform us so that we may establish specific arrangements with you to clarify the rules of communication and avoid any possible misunderstandings.

Any supporting risk and related documentation are to be provided to us in English. It is important that when providing us with translated documentation for our and/or your insurers' consideration, you seek professional translating assistance.

8. Sums Insured & Limits

Each policy is subject to various limits, sub-limits and sums insured. It is in your interest to ensure that these meet your requirements and are maintained at adequate levels throughout the policy period in accordance with policy requirements. You should also be aware of any contractual requirements that you may have with third parties to maintain specific standards of insurance protection.

You may request modifications to most of these values at any stage of the policy period. Some values are also subject to an 'underinsurance condition', which would penalise you for inadequate sums insured by the application of the principle of average in the event of a claim.

It is advisable that you compile and maintain, for your internal use, a list of the items comprising the respective values being insured. This will assist you to monitor changes that you may eventually require in updating these values.

Likewise, it is strongly recommended that you regularly review the description of the interest being insured under the respective policy schedules with a view to ascertaining its adequacy. Changes thereto could be affected at any point in time.

9. Cover Placements, Changes & Payments

Policy placements and renewals, alterations to covers or increases in sums insured etc. will not be effective until insurers have accepted and confirmed these. You should therefore not assume that the requested placement, renewal or amendment is effective until you receive confirmation from us in writing in this regard.

When affecting a premium payment using online facilities please ensure that you provide all relevant details clearly identifying your MIB client account number and instructions. Your instructions to renew or extend cover will not be automatically processed upon such transaction. You will receive confirmation in writing from us upon processing of your payment. We recommend that when affecting such payments, you also separately send us an email on info@mib.com.mt to verify your instructions and payment.

10. Conditions & Warranties

It is noted that policies contain various conditions and warranties that place certain obligations on you as the insured. Compliance with these is essential to ensure that your interests are not prejudiced in the event of a claim.

It is particularly emphasized that all warranties should be literally and continuously complied with and that in the event of non-compliance the policy will be rendered void and underwriters will be entitled to repudiate an otherwise indemnifiable claim thereunder even if the breach of warranty is not connected to the loss.

Please inform us immediately should you have any difficulties in the implementation of any such conditions and warranties in order that we may take up the matter with your insurers.

11. Premium Payment

Insurance protection is operative subject to the prompt payment of the full premium. In cases where special premium payment agreements are in force you are to ensure that the premium is paid by the agreed date/s. Where the premium payment dates are subject to a policy warranty the coverage will automatically cease in the event of non-payment by the required date/s. Please inform us in advance of any payment due date if you anticipate difficulties in meeting the payment deadline in order that we may communicate with your insurers and seek to avoid an interruption in your insurance protection.

When affecting a premium payment using online facilities please ensure that you provide all relevant details clearly identifying your account number and instructions. Your instructions to renew or extend cover will not be automatically processed upon such transaction. You will receive confirmation in writing from us upon processing of your payment. We recommend that when affecting such payments you also separately send us an email on info@mib.com.mt to verify your instructions and payment.

12. Claims Conditions & Prescription

You should be familiar with the claims related conditions under the policies in order to ensure that you are in a position to fully comply therewith and hence safeguard your interests. It is essential that in the event of any loss whatsoever you advise our offices immediately in order that we may assist you in the processing of any potential insurance claim. This applies irrespective of the type or magnitude of the loss or whether or not you deem the loss as being the subject of an insurance claim.

Please be aware that all policies include strict loss/claim notification conditions tied with specific timeframes. Breach of such timeframes automatically permits the insurers to repudiate a claim.

In the case of claims made policies, such as Professional Indemnity and Directors and Officers Liability, it is your obligation to notify us immediately upon becoming aware of any error, omission, situation or circumstance that you consider may become a claim or investigation in future. This applies even if there are no third-party allegations or indeed irrespective of whether the third party is aware thereof at this point.

You are also advised to liaise with your legal advisor regarding the application and monitoring of any limitation period at law which may restrict the timeframe within which you may pursue legal proceedings or other protective remedies against third parties or insurers. You should however also be aware of any specific time limitation clauses which may be found on your insurance policy document and which may prevail over legal time bar terms.

13. Lodging a Claim

If you have reason or cause to claim under your insurance policies contact your account executive immediately. You may also lodge a claim by visiting the Claims Solutions Section at www.mib.com.mt.

Our offices may be contacted, either through telephone on +356 234 33 234 or by email on info@mib.com.mt. Our offices are open between 8.15am and 5.00pm from Monday to Friday. Our quotations will normally be subject to the Maltese Contract Clause. We will inform you if this is not the case or if you are entitled to choose the law applicable to the contract.

20. Compensation Scheme & Insurer Financial Standing

In Malta a compensation scheme is available by virtue of the Protection and Compensation Fund Regulations 2003 should the insurer be insolvent and unable to meet its obligations under the contract subject to any conditions and limitations as may be prescribed.

MIB is not in a position to provide details or guidance of any similar arrangements which may exist outside Malta governing foreign insurance markets or insurance placements made therein. We would need to discuss any specific requirements and services which you may have in this regard.

On a general note from our end as your brokers, we are not the insurer of any risk and we cannot guarantee the availability or price of insurance for your particular risks. Moreover, while we take reasonable care in the selection of Maltese or foreign (re)insurers and the final choice of insurer remains with you, we do not guarantee the solvency or financial standing of any (re)insurer with which we place your policies. No audit, quotation or report from our end should be construed as approval or guarantee of any (re)insurance security. You should note that the financial position of an (re)insurer may change after cover is placed with them and this may have an effect on any outstanding claims even after your (re)insurance has expired.

21. Placement Features

- Breach of policy terms and conditions including non-payment of premium,
- Changes or non-disclosure of material facts,

- By decision of insurers subject to the respective policy terms and conditions.

23. Remuneration Policy

MIB's remuneration for the services will either be brokerage commission, (being a proportion of the (re)insurance premium paid by you and/or determined or allowed by the (re)insurer(s) with whom the (re)insurance is placed, and/or a fee agreed with you. Where applicable, we will notify you of our fee at the time of quoting the premium and terms for your insurance prior to any commitment.

Unless otherwise specifically agreed with you our brokerage commission and/or fees in respect of a (re)insurance contract are deemed fully earned at inception, irrespective of when the (re)insurance premium is payable. We will therefore be entitled to retain all brokerage commission and/or fees in the event of cancellation or earlier termination of the (re)insurance and/or in the event of a transfer of broker of record. It is acceptable market practice the brokerage commission is deducted from premium once received.

There may be instances when we may receive remuneration from (re)insurers based on business bound, profitability of portfolio, management and administration of binding authorities, claims management services and administrative support services.
